	Tables are a great way to display data to make it easier to analyze what the data means. Columns are the lines that go up and down. Rows are the lines that go from one side to the other in the table. Tables may provide more information in them than you need to answer a particular question, so your task will be to find the information in the table that is relevant to the question you have been asked. Let's try one.
